THE WEATHER.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Forecast: For South Carolina—Fair Tuesday and probably Wednesday.

Thought for the Day.
Judge not the Lord by feeble sense,
But trust Him for His grace;
Behind a frowning providence
He hides a smiling face.
Blind unbelief is sure to err,
And scan His work in vain.
God is His own Interpreter,
And He will make it plain.
—Cowper.

This is the month that G. Washington and the G. hog made famous.

It seems that two-cent mileage is to be put up to the governor to sign.

Anderson is My Town. The town that's growing.

The legislators have been at home getting their ears to the ground.

The State Sunday School convention will be an investment for Anderson.

There is more good accomplished preaching to people than in preaching at them.

The devil claps his hands alevity in the pulpit which makes the people laugh.

"May your shadow never grow less" was never said to the ground hog.

The carnival is not one of the improvements to which North Anderson can "point with pride."

The only industry at the State prison is the dear little spider making cobwebs.

Give us prohibition or give us liquor that is less mean. This shipped stuff is rank poison, judging from evidences.

Jockeys are they who are called to serve on the jury, and more unlucky the hapless ones whose causes are to be judged.

Magistrate John B. Bonner of Pelzer impresses us as being one who is a level headed judge for his people.

The great Sunday evil in Anderson is not alone in selling a little fruit or soft drinks, but in allowing people to congregate on the sidewalks.

The parade of Sunday school teachers and pupils will be impressive and a great inspiration if it is conducted in the right spirit.

John Skelton Williams will be long on control when he is comptroller of the currency. Wall street will get no home runs from his delivery.

We take pleasure in informing Big Chief Schindler of Clemson that Anderson is the place for a fine bakery. This should be the distributing plant.

The funnygraphs of the esteemed Columbia State are sometimes as amusing as the Edison or the Victor or the Columbia—from the neighbor's viewpoint, or hearpoint.

Yes, it is hard to have company in the home when the cook is away, but think of the lunches and dinners, or eaters, to be given the State Sunday school convention.

Anderson has sent many a good dollar to Greenwood for bread—and Anderson college has been a grave offender. We yearn for Anderson to have the best bakery in the State here and cut out this mail order stunt.

For Rent—One nice, comfy, cosy State penitentiary. Persons moving in may have Brussels carpets, ostermoors, bath in every room, free champagne and taxi without the tax.

Judge Jeter C. Pritchard says that the tango does not add much to the conservation of manhood or the dignity of mankind. Right, you, Judge Pritchard.

Teddy has been sending specimens of animal life from the jungles of South America. Was one of the symbol of the defunct and extinct G. O. P.?

Mr. W. H. Hand in his annual report says that our high school may be becoming "over-feminized." Some of the women teachers are far superior to the men, so "what's the diff?"

The T. P. A. of Anderson are ambitious in writing President Wilson to visit this city, and while we would like to see them favored, yet we fear the "drummers" would have a poor convention on grape juice.

Senator Shelby M. Culom, who died last week, had seen more of public life and of public men than any other man in the United States senate—and yet his life remained pure and sweet.

Captain Fudge of the English navy, was accustomed to relate such astonishing tales that the sailors used his name to indicate a falsehood. Oh, fudge, have you tried the confession of the same name.

The thing that we dislike about this bill to keep white people from teaching in negro schools is that the world at large might think that there is a lot of it in the State, whereas there are a few scattered cases that a good rail and a few stout shoulders could end without so much hurrah.

HENRY CLAUDIUS TOWNSEND.

In the death of Henry Claudius Townsend Anderson sustains a loss that will be felt in every line of endeavor. As a citizen, as a progressive worker, as a moral asset of the community, as a man and as a Christian, he was an example of constancy, of buoyancy and of quiet courage. Not alone his family, but the entire city of Anderson will miss him.

As a citizen Mr. Townsend was broad-visioned and full of public spirit. He never allowed personal interests to overshadow the welfare of his community. One has but to scan the many buildings that bear his name to be convinced that he had the welfare of his city at heart in his every business venture. No institution or enterprise that was launched for the welfare of his community ever failed of his generous support and encouragement.

As a Christian he was modest, sincere, loyal, liberal and consecrated. He lived up to the views of his profession and gave generously of his time and money to the cause of Christ. While he was a loyal member of the First Presbyterian church and a faithful office bearer in it, and while he contributed liberally to all the causes that it represented, his Christian activity was by no means confined to that organization. Many churches of his own and other denominations, as well as benevolent and eleemosynary institutions, looked upon him as a sympathetic friend and a generous benefactor. His interest was as catholic as the Kingdom of Christ, and his liberality was as broad as the various phases of Christian activity with which he was acquainted. His only requirement was that the cause be accredited as worthy and trustworthy.

In the death of this good man the whole city is sustaining a great loss. We deal in no timeworn platitudes when we say that he will be sorely missed. He was one of Anderson's builders, and one whose every enterprise was contributory to the welfare of the city as a whole.

A TEXTILE SCHOOL.

With pleasure we call attention to the notice of the organization of the textile school under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. This is a great undertaking, and Secretary Burnett is the man to do it. He will endeavor to teach at night the boys who work in the mills in the day. He has done this work before at Monaghan and will make a success of it here.

The school will start after the State Sunday School convention, and for three months the tuition will be but $1.50, which amount carries with the scholarship all of the privileges of the Y. M. C. A. Believing in the merit of this enterprise, The Intelligencer wishes to have one scholarship from each of the mills in the city. Is this satisfactory, Mr. Secretary Burnett?

ATTEMPTED ASSAULT
STIRS ALL PELZERNegro Grabbed Woman and Was Frightened by Her Screams.
Community Aroused.

The thriving town of Pelzer was stirred and excited Monday afternoon as it seldom had been when the word spread like wildfire throughout the place that an unknown negro brute had attempted to assault a well known white woman of the place. Five minutes after the word went over the place the streets of Pelzer were lined with determined men. A message was sent to Anderson apprising the officials here of the outrage and Sheriff Joe M. H. Ashley, accompanied by two of the deputy sheriffs, left at once for the scene, taking with them the county blood-hounds.

It was very difficult last night to obtain details and these were but meagre at best. It seems that the lady, who is about 27 years of age and the wife of a well known mechanic, was going through some woods near the back of her premises in West Pelzer or Frankville, at about 4:30 o'clock, when she heard steps behind her and turning she confronted the negro. He at once seized her and made an effort to prevent an outcry, but in this he was unsuccessful and when she screamed he became frightened and ran. When released the woman ran to her house, almost crazed with fear, and screaming for aid. The alarm spread like wildfire.

When the sheriff arrived on the scene between 200 and 300 men were making a determined search, but with the vague description of her assailant furnished by the woman, they saw but little hope of finding the right negro. She had said that he was a tall mulatto, who appeared to be about 30 years of age and that he wore a pair of yellow trousers.

Suspect Released.
A negro named Austin, who was captured by the posse and he was rushed before the woman for identification, but the minute she saw him she was positive in her declaration that they had the wrong man. He was therefore released and the search continued.

From the very time of the happening until about 10 o'clock last night, the posse, together with the sheriff, kept up a determined search for the fiend, but at that time the members of the posse lost heart and gave up the chase. The sheriff, together with his deputies, received information that the negro had headed in the direction of Piedmont and when last heard of at a late hour the search was being continued in that direction by the officials.

There has never been a happening more to excite the inhabitants of the place and while there were no outspoken threats it is generally understood that the negro, if caught and identified, would have met with speedy punishment at the hands of the people.

At a late hour last night information from Pelzer was to the effect that everything was quiet and that nothing further had been heard of the sheriff or the chase.

THE OLD BLUE LAWS
MAY BE INVOKED

Ministers' Union Had Conference With the Druggists Monday.

The ministerial union of Anderson at its weekly meeting Monday discussed the matter of enforcing the blue laws of the city. The druggists of the city were asked to appear before the ministers. Dr. John F. Vines at the First Baptist church Sunday night had said that one cause of the falling off in the Sunday schools was the "bungles on Main street that attract the flies and the young boys." It is understood, however, that this suggestion antedated that attack on the coming of the Anderson Fair, which is to be a beautiful display. See ad on page 6.

Strange Animal
Badly Frightened

Did he go back? He must certainly did and that with a loss of time. He didn't even wait to turn around the three times as is customary. He barely took one squint and "beat it" as though he were afraid that it might begin to snow before he could get back in his coat.

Yes, the anxious reader inquires, what is this? Why to this honor Mr. Groundhog, to be sure. According to the custom which has come down from time immemorial the ground hog must make his dignified appearance on the second day of February. His Majesty takes a look out of his hole exactly on the stroke of noon and if perchance he sees his shadow, straightaway he retreats in good order and for six more weeks he will stay under the ground, thereby giving solemn warning that there are to be six weeks of bad weather before the coming of spring. If, on the other hand, the groundhog fails to see his shadow it is proof positive of the fact that winter's back is broken and the animal remains on the outside.

Now it must be understood that The Intelligencer reporter was not actually on the ground when the animal made his stately appearance. But "Hot" King says that it is so and of course Anderson people know that at Hot said so it must be so. Therefore, try to get a little more credit from the real man because the six weeks' spell is on the way.

NOTICE, SUBSCRIBERS!

Some of our subscribers who failed to see the notices published several times at the time we began the publication of The Daily Intelligencer do not understand that the Daily will be sent to ALL subscribers to the Semi-Weekly for a short while, free of charge.

That is, the Daily will be sent them in place of the Semi-Weekly during the trial period. At the expiration of this time we shall again begin to publish the Semi-Weekly Intelligencer, at which time all those who do not desire to become subscribers to the Daily will be confined to the Semi-Weekly list and will receive the Semi-Weekly for the full time for which they have paid. There is nothing obligatory about becoming subscribers to the Daily, and we simply wish ALL our readers to have a chance to see what a splendid daily newspaper we can publish.

Of course we shall be glad to have as many as will subscribe to the daily, and shall appreciate their doing so as early as they decide to become subscribers. The amount paid in advance will be credited on the subscription price of the Daily to those subscribers desiring to change from the Semi-Weekly.

BURNS FATAL TO BABY BOY

Little Son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Martin Succumbed to Injuries.

As a result of he burns he received when he fell into an open grate Saturday, William Martin, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Martin, died at the home of his parents on Broadway street Sunday, after suffering terrible pain through Saturday night and Sunday morning.

The little boy had been left in a room at the Martin home with a sister slightly larger, and in some manner his clothing became ignited, the baby receiving terrible burns. In extinguishing the fire the mother was also painfully burned.

The funeral service took place yesterday at 11 o'clock at the home, the interment at Silver Brook cemetery. The services were conducted by the Rev. J. E. Vines.

HAS DECLINED
AMBASSADORSHIP

Henry M. Pindell Declines to Go to Russia Under the Circumstances.

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, Feb. 2.—Henry M. Pindell of Peoria, Ill., who was recently nominated and confirmed as ambassador to Russia, has declined the appointment. Mr. Pindell's decision was announced in a letter to President Wilson, made public at the White House today.

Mr. Pindell wrote President Wilson that, although the senate had investigated accusations in connection with his appointment, he felt nevertheless that no controversy of any kind should surround the appointment of any ambassador, as it was liable to be misunderstood abroad.

ROCK ME TO SLEEP, MOTHER

Backward, turn backward, O time, in your flight.
Make me a child again, just for tonight.
Mother, come back from the echoes shore,
Take me again to your heart as of yore;
Kiss from my forehead the furrows of care,
Smooth the few silver threads out of my hair;
Over my slumbers your loving watch keep,
Rock me to sleep, mother, rock me to sleep.Backward, flow backward, O tide of the years,
I am so weary of toil and of tears—
Toll without recompense, tears all in vain;
Take them, and give me my childhood again.
I have grown weary of dust and decay—
Weary of flinging my soul wealth away;
Weary of sowing for others to reap;
Rock me to sleep, mother, rock me to sleep.Over my heart in the days that are down;
No love like mother love ever has been shown,
No other worship abides and endures—
Faithful, unselfish and patient like yours,
None like a mother can charm away pain
From the sick soul and the world-weary brain.
Slumber's soft calm o'er my heavy lids creep,
Rock me to sleep, mother, rock me to sleep.Mother, dear mother, the years have been long,
Since I last listened to your lullaby song.
Since then, and unto my soul it shall seem,
Womanhood's years have been only a dream.
Clasped to your breast in loving embrace,
With your light I have just sweeping my face,
Never hereafter to wake or to weep—
Rock me to sleep, mother, rock me to sleep.

—Elizabeth Akers.
